SPAX Dampers now available in any colour you like

SPAX Performance Ltd have been 'must-have' equipment on showcars for the past 50 years, but now you can have them in any colour you like to colour-key with or complement your car.

SPAX oven baked powder coating is the best finish a damper can possibly have. It is far superior to both the zinc and gold passivation and wet paint spray used by other manufacturers, resisting salt spray and stone chips for an ultra long service life. Powder coating can be matched to almost any colour that has a Pantone® number or similar identification.

SPAX can supply specific coloured dampers subject to a surcharge of just £1 per damper, with a minimum surcharge of £50 per order.

Because of the unique SPAX production method the minimum order for specific coloured dampers is just one damper! So having a set of dampers colour keyed for your car presents no problem at all and will cost less and give a better and more durable finish than having them professionally painted.

This unique SPAX service also means that dealers can offer SPAX suspension in their own chosen colour and classic car restorers can match their dampers to the original manufacturer's colours.
