Fully Adjustable SPAX RSX Suspension Kit for late model Subaru Impreza

In response to popular demand leading suspension manufacturers SPAX have just released a new fully adjustable suspension kit to fit the latest model Subaru Impreza. The RSX Race Kit has been designed for Impreza owners who want to get that much more out of their car, both on the road and when pushed to the limit on track days.

The kit contains front and rear dampers with extra strong motorsport brackets, adjustable spring seats, uprated race style springs, performance bump stops and 'C' spanners. The front and rear dampers have threaded bodies to allow the ride height to be altered by simply winding the spring seat up or down. The damping rate is also easily adjusted on the car enabling a range of 10 damping rates from 'standard road' to 'serious track use' to be selected with the minimum of effort. Quality is a major factor at SPAX. All dampers are epoxy powder coated and stoved and then dyno tested before packing. A unique new triple oil sealing system has made leaks a thing of the past and the overall standard of construction and durability has made the SPAX products more than capable of coping with both the extremes of out and out track use and the daily abuses of driving in traffic. The price however is quite affordable at just £899.99 including vat.
