SPAX SSX Uprated Lowering Springs for Alfa 147

Leading suspension masters SPAX have just announced a new SSX uprated and lowered spring kit for the Alfa Romeo 147.

SPAX SSX uprated springs will deliver a firmer, sportier ride, improve the handling and give the car a more aggressive stance. The reduced suspension travel caused by lowering requires higher spring stiffness, which is why quality is so important. These springs are cold wound, silicon springs - so there's no doubting the technology and quality involved. SSX springs are therefore stiffer to handle the same vehicle loads within a shorter spring travel. Whilst cheaper springs may achieve the same visual effect, they are unlikely to be able to handle the extreme forces exerted on the car under hard driving conditions and therefore may "bottom out", sag or snap.

No such problems with SPAX, since SPAX are one of the very few British companies to have achieved German TUV approval which is universally recognised around the world as a hallmark of quality.

At just £99.99 a set of SPAX SSX springs must be one of the best value and worthwhile improvements any 147 owner could make!
